CIAM BUREAU MEETING

Report by Ian Kaynes.

The CIAM Bureau meeting was held in Dubai on December 3 and 4. The change from the usual Lausanne venue was because it was within the December 1 to 12 time of the World Air Games (WAG). There were some radio and also control line combat events within the WAG and so a large number of the Bureau had travel and accommodation provided for them as officials at one or other event. In fact that covered all the Bureau except for three who could not spend the extra time or had no function at WAG. Of course, I was one of those, particularly because there were no free flight events in WAG. The event was well-publicised in UAE – while waiting in the disorganised queue for immigration the video trailer for WAG was shown several times. Breakfast on the next two mornings were notable for the flights of massed hot-air balloons in their competitions. Indoor RC aerobatics was flown in one of the shopping malls and attracted the attention of the surprised shoppers.

The core business of the Bureau meeting includes review of the contest calendar and 2016 Champs – see below – and plans for the Plenary meeting. Some proposals submitted by Netherlands and Canada on F1C changes had been refused because it is not the right year for changes within the 2-year rule cycle. That also applied to one from the FF Subcommittee to give freedom to vary the round time allowed for flyoff flights, even though that was explicitly only for open internationals not championships. There are some FFSC proposals for World Cup rules, clarification of group flyoffs, details next month.

Among general discussions topics were plans to revise the “Volume ABR” general part of the aeromodelling sporting code (all class-specific rules to transfer into the relevant technical volumes. The FAI agreement that CIAM should cover all aspects of UAVs was debated, including questions of whether CIAM has the expertise to rule on records established by professional UAVs. The UAV working group in CIAM had been working on established rules for competitors for FPV flying of quadcopter types of drones and was anticipating running a provisional World Cup if there are enough events in 2016.

The Plenary meeting will be in Lausanne on April 8 and 9, which is different from the dates originally announced. There will not be a Free Flight Technical meeting in 2016.

These changes will also impact on civilian land use.
		The FFTC realises that these changes will alter the way that Free Flight is organised and operated and is evolving a plan to ensure the continuance of Free Flight in the UK.
		At the conference the FFTC will outline its proposals. The FFTC wants input from the free flight community with respect to this future planning. If you have thoughts and ideas be there and make your voice heard.
		For more details and to book your place at the conference (there is no charge to attend) contact the FFTC Chairman Mike Woodhouse at MichaelWoodhouse1942@gmail.com or 01603 457754.

HEC 2015- F1H EURO CHALLENGE

Report by Gary Madelin

This League is now in its fifth year, and this time attracted 233 scoring entries. Admittedly, some flyers only flew one event in their home country, such as a number of juniors in Turkey and Bulgaria, but multiple entries by keen seniors in the likes of Germany, Hungary Scandinavia and the UK were also in evidence.

After the results of 41 events flown across Europe, [there were 48 scheduled but some were cancelled due to bad weather, such as the last Swedish event with even the reserve day suffering], time came for the Finale and the "pre Finale" events in Switzerland on the 30 – 31 October. These events are run alongside the now famous Euro Fly World Cup events, on a lovely site, so long as the winds stay light. This year it was almost too calm, especially for those of us who have sadly reached the other side of their physical fitness peak.

Having failed to get a full max out in three events [despite trying hard] over the season, I nonetheless decided to go to the Finale, dispatching my small F1h box and tool kit with Ken Faux on his overland trip, whilst I took the first Friday morning flight out of London Gatwick, and thence an efficient Swiss train to Thun, where Ken met me 10 minutes from the field on an absolutely beautiful Autumnal morning.

The Friday saw the penultimate HEC 2015 event, the Gubertal Cup [GER / SUI], hotly contested by German, Hungarian and the odd Ukrainian and GBR flyers.

After the normal five round format, the fifth round was flown to a three minute max, and three made the fly-off, which was a four minute max. In the light winds, models were drifting maybe 200m in that time, and only Andre Siefert, GER, made the max. This was a crucial event for him as this made up his qualifying 300% to go through to the Finale. Other flyers in that position had sadly not made the trip to Switzerland, notably Per Findahl and Kosma Huber from Sweden, Uwe Ruche from GER and junior Martin Remai from Hungary, who went down with an illness the week before.

So, onto the Saturday, last event of the series before the “one flight final shoot out”. 16 flyers competed in very calm overcast conditions. The 150 m cloud base did not affect us, as it did the adjacent F1C event, with models disappearing before the engines cut! Five rounds were again held, with increased max on round five, but this time to a 4 minute max. Four made it to the fly-off, which was convincingly won by Yaron Kraus from Israel with a lovely 5 minute max from a tremendous launch that d/t'd from line height just over the flight line. Thomas Weimar was second and Szabolcs Horvath [HUN] third.

And so to the HEC Finale “one shot” fly-off. Only five flyers had made it, although potentially there could have been nine, but nonetheless it was a great final fly-off. The hooter went signalling the 10 minute window and all five commenced towing at once. The first off with a great launch, ignored by all the others, was Hungarian Balazs Selemci, who held height for a considerable time before slowly descending to d/t at 10 m for the 5 minute max no more than 100m from the flight line. Szabolcs Horvath [HUN again] was second with just under four minutes, whilst the “man of the week-end” Andre Siefert from Germany was down in just over two minutes for a well-deserved 4th place. Given that Andre only started flying the series in August [he is normally an F1B flyer] with a lovely new simple circle tow model assembled from bits straight out of the Vasily factory, he did remarkably well. A seasoned flyer, whatever he turns his hand to.

This year we Brits put on a mediocre show, but still had three of us in the top 20, notably John Cooper, Richard Jack and myself.

Full results are available at www.creasus.de/ikarus . Next year I plan to still be the NW Europe co-ordinator for the series and will have to nominate the three GBR events to qualify. Any suggestions or help in this regard greatly appreciated.

Meanwhile all credit and thanks to our hardworking friends in Germany and Hungary who have put so much into making this event great, and keep the “on line” results, information and postings up to date. And not least for fielding lots of keen flyers to participate.

INDOOR WORLD RECORDS

FAI has ratified the following Indoor World records.

Record 125a F1D (ceiling less than 8 m): a time of 20 min 35 sec by Akihiro Danjo (Japan) at Otaku, Tokyo, Japan on July 24 2015.

Record 125b F1D (ceiling 8m - 15m): a time of 26 min 40 sec by Zoltan Sukosd (Hungary) at Budapest, Hungary on July 4 2015.

There were no previous record in these categories for F1D to the current specification.

Claims made for records for duration in competition at Slanic Prahova (Romania) by Zoltan Sukosd (Hungary) have not been ratified since the record dossiers were not received in due time by the FAI.

TIMERS FOR E36

Additional information about the eMAX timers from Per Grunnet:

Paul Mastermann's article about timers for E36, F1S and F1Q-models in the latest issue of FFN is very informative for newcomers to the E36/F1S-classes. As a dedicated fan of the eMAX-timers from Texas Timers, (www.texastimers.com) I feel that some additional information about the eMAX-family should be mentioned.

The standard eMAX can be ordered with a dataport option, which allows the flyer to enter any motor- and DT-time up to 600 seconds. It works with PC and some Android computers/tablets. The eMAX can also be ordered with RDT-option – it works perfectly with Airtek and Sidus RDTs.

There is a new multifunction eMAX timer that is developed for F1Q and autosurface models. It has motorrun and DT-time set by rotary switches – just like the standard eMAX – plus three programmable functions performed by the DT-servo. This allows you to have auto-rudder, bunt and tailplane-setting – or other desired functions performed by the timer.

The MF eMAX is programmed with a PC, and you can set the time and the desired movement of the servo for each of the three extra functions – plus for the motorrun and the DTfunction. If you fly with an Energy Limiter, the limiter will stop the motor – and start the sequence of the three programmable functions. The motorrun and the DT-time start counting when the start button is released.

I have flown with the MF eMAX in my F1Q-model for half a year. I have connected the timer to the Sidus Energy Limiter, and this works fine. The F1Q-model is an old F1H-model, that never flew well – it still doesn't, but don't blame the timer!

The price of the MF eMAX is in the 80-100 dollars range depending on which options you choose (cable for energy limiter, RDT-socket, remote start-button). The price of the standard eMAX is likewise in the 60-70 dollars range.

MERRYFIELD

Security Measures at RNAS Merryfield for 2016

New security measures have been put in place at RNAS Merryfield for Model Flying.

It is necessary for anyone planning to visit Merryfield for model flying at the Area Events to be in possession of an 'Amenity Pass' and also be a BMFA Member (including each of any other people who accompany you).

The pass is obtained by completing an Application Form, naming two referees, and also obtaining a suitable 'Sponsor' who must be an MOD employee and have suitable security qualifications.

Additionally, you will personally have to present yourself at RNAS Yeovilton (probably on a weekday) for photographic identification and to obtain your pass.

Further details and information is available from Peter Tribe. petertribe46@talktalk.net
